About us

We are a charity located in Bromyard, Herefordshire offering a wide range of services aimed the local community. Based in 2 purpose built buildings, the Charity has an extensive range of centre facilities and began life as a mums and toddlers group in Bromyard. The charity began construction of the first purpose-built building in the early 2000s financed by mini Sure Start funding. Several years later, an increase in demand for support required additional expansion resulting in a successful bid for European Funding in partnership with Herefordshire Council.

Today the Charity is known for being a local resource that offers support and early help to the local community in Bromyard and beyond. Our well established role and our long history of involvement with the community is a vital one. We are trusted and respected and understand the local need and how best to offer support. We are quick and easy to find and believe that an early intervention, however small, can be the way to prevent something growing into a crisis.

Historically, our roots lay with children and families but over the years that has developed into a much wider range of services. Today our support can range from breastfeeding and perinatal mental health for younger families and children to emotional support, paying bills and home visits to the elderly.

We are a nationally accredited Child Contact Centre offering services to facilitate contact between non-resident families and their children. Our Early Years department is a thriving one in which we provide care and education for 0-4 year olds. There are also learning opportunities and classes on site for adults. Our community café is a wonderful place where breakfasts and lunches are served throughout the week and occasional weekends and members of the public can come and visit. We have a free soft play area for children. Our commission as the local authority's Children's Centre for Bromyard uses our strong partnerships with Health, Early Years and Education as well as the professional expertise of our staff and experience of multi-agency working. We offer all of this by combining a team of professionally trained staff and volunteers who deliver the services we offer.

As well as the above, the Centre's modern facilities houses Bromyard Multi Agency Office belonging to Herefordshire Council and is a perfect venue for meetings, interviews, conferences, training and away day with excellent onsite facilities. The staff and volunteers at the Centre are a key part of our services and the helpful and supportive nature of all those who support us is essential to fulfilling our vision, mission and aims.
